EDUCATION

2014 to 2017	Politecnico di Milano (Milano, Italy) Master in Design &amp; Engineering (taught in English). GPA 95/110. Thesis: "Infinity_smart helmet for the urban cyclists " Supervisor: Prof. Matteo Oreste Ingaramo. Abstract: Development and engineering of a bike helmet that is able to identify the presence of the cyclist in the traffic and that can and will notify the other participants for his intentions. For this reason, it uses the sensor technology along with light guide technology, which all together is implemented into the shell of the helmet without obstructing its core function. This added feature on the helmet serves as a protective device and not as the final solution for increasing the security of the cyclist, but instead is geared towards making the cyclist "stand out" and be visible in the traffic.
2012 to 2014	University American College (Skopje, Macedonia) Master of Science in Marketing (taught in English). Thesis: "For what is used our personal data on social media" Abstract: : Design has always tried to analyse the users' needs by observing them, their habits and attitudes and by becoming part of their lives. In the recent years, thanks to technology development, the process became deeper. Companies now have a completely new set of methods and possibilities to control the users and discover almost every detail about their desires and aspiration. Facebook and all the social media companies are at the base of this data collection, by making people share their thoughts. These kinds of technology are used in a subtle way, analysing structured and unstructured data coming from the users and forming patterns and profiles. Our purpose has been to investigate how much the users are aware of the "violation" of their privacy and how are they feeling about it; in order to have some answers we gave a survey to a sample and analysed the results. What we found out was that people even after knowing that they're giving up their privacy and showing negative feelings, they still prefer to use those services; the probable reason has to be found in the social inclusivity they grant to the user which otherwise would not feel part of his community.
2007 to 2011	Faculty of design and technologies of furniture and interior (Skopje, Macedonia) Bachelor' degree in design and technologies. GPA 9,44/100. Thesis: "Female population in the world of managing small enterprises"
